DETAIL CONTENT MARKETING

Content that inspires – for your success

We work with you to develop a tailor-made content strategy and accompany you from the initial idea to successful implementation. With high-quality, search engine optimised content, you increase your visibility, strengthen trust and build lasting loyalty among your target group. DETAIL positions your company as an industry expert, increases interactions and generates leads.

By architects for architects

Our editorial team combines extensive industry experience with in-depth expertise.

High-quality content

We create relevant, journalistically verified content tailored to your target group that conveys your messages credibly and sustainably.

Crossmedia reach

Through print, online, newsletters and social media, you can reach architects, planners and decision-makers across all channels in a targeted manner with a wide reach.

Targeted communication

DETAIL is the platform for architecture and design – precise target group communication in a high-quality editorial environment reaches architects, planners and decision-makers directly and without wasted coverage.

Strengthening your brand and trust

Relevant, informative content allows you to create genuine added value – increasing brand awareness and positioning your company as an expert in the long term. Expertise, trends and best practices underline your competence and make your brand a thought leader.

Increased visibility

High-quality, search engine optimised content increases the discoverability of your website and your brand.

More interaction & leads

Engaging content stimulates dialogue, provides valuable feedback and generates new business contacts.

High cost-effectiveness

Content has a lasting impact: once created, it can be used and distributed multiple times over the long term.

CORPORATE PUBLISHING

Strategic storytelling: effective corporate publishing for your messages

With Corporate Publishing by DETAIL you deliver your brand messages exactly where they matter – to architects, planners, and key decision-makers in the construction sector.

WHITE PAPER

White paper – knowledge that convinces

Inspire. Enthuse. Convince.

A white paper allows you to position your company as a competent point of contact.

Why a white paper is ideal:

You want to establish yourself as a technically skilled expert in the industry.

You have specific know-how that offers added value to the planning community.

You encounter unanswered questions in dialogue with architects that need to be addressed.

You have an outstanding product that is not yet fully understood.

Why a white paper is effective:

There is a high demand for specialist, planning-related information on products, materials and technologies.

Benefit from:

- Strong image transfer & reputation
Present your company in a high-quality editorial environment
- Positioning as an industry expert
Establish yourself as a competent contact for architects and planners
- Maximum reach
Placement in the high-reach DETAIL media channels – online and crossmedia
- Editorial expertise
Target group-oriented preparation by the experienced DETAIL editorial team
- Concept, design and digital preparation
Content consulting and coordination
- Design in the graphic look & feel of DETAIL
- Publication on detail.de/en
- High-reach support
through media packages & accompanying advertising measures
- Optional: Integration of existing white papers after editorial review
- Increased attention
Greater visibility for your products, services and innovations
- Lead generation
Qualified contacts through relevant content with added value

Content possibilities for a white paper:

White papers address complex topics and are presented in a concise manner:

- Planning information, including information on the structural integration of products
- Comprehensive information on product features
- Information on standards and regulations
- Information on current research findings
- References to online planning tools that facilitate the integration/design of the respective structural solution
- Information on material composition, manufacturing and recycling processes
- Information on the suitability of the product for different areas of application
- Other verifiable sustainability information
